

Tumble Into Literature

TumbleTalkingBooks

TumbleTalkingBooks is an online library collection of streaming audiobooks. Your annual subscription to TumbleTalkingBooks gives your students unlimited remote access to this audiobook collection.

TumbleTalkingBooks are launched from a link on your school Web site. Your students can access the entire collection from any computer with an Internet connection. TumbleTalkingBooks are never all checked out, never on hold. As many people can listen to the same book at the same time as you like!

TumbleTalkingBooks include over 1,000 unabridged, high-quality audio versions of classics of American and world literature, nonfiction, fiction, and children and teen books from publishers like Blackstone Audio, Highbridge Audio, and Naxos Audio. TumbleTalkingBooks offer plays and drama, including all-cast versions of popular Shakespeare plays.

Once you've previewed TumbleTalkingBooks and are ready to subscribe, we'll help you set up a link on your Web site so your students can immediately enjoy unlimited remote access to your collection. Once you subscribe, Tumble does the rest. Tumble manages the technology. Tumble supports the service – in fact the Tumble system can support a virtually unlimited number of simultaneous users, so students never “compete” for titles.

By using technology to deliver literacy, TumbleTalkingBooks takes a load off precious school resources while enhancing service and access to students.
